What is the chairman's reaction to Faye's resignation and what will be the process moving forward to find her replacement.

Faye is one of the best transportation minds in the State of Georgia. She has provided outstanding leadership during one of the most exciting times in Cobb County.

Will Wilgus be interim? The County Manager will be making a recommendation for how to move forward.

Can he give me a comment about the timing – it's 18 months before the first pitch at SunTrust; there are $100 million in transportation infrastructure projects pending around SunTrust Park; and the county is currently engaged in several studies related to transportation and pedestrian planning in the Cumberland area.

The transportation team is extremely talented and capable. They are well prepared to usher the County through the next 18 months leading up first pitch.

Thank you,

DK

Kelli:

As I said in an email to you last week, I am working on several stories that will publish in conjunction with the 2-year anniversary of the Braves announced move to Cobb County. One of those stories deals specifically with infrastructure investments in the Cumberland area that are outside of the county's $368 million commitment toward stadium construction and its $35 million commitment to capital maintenance.

We would like to talk to the chairman about this issue. Is that possible?

Thank you,
