Helpful Hints on a Case Number Search...

- For complete results, it is recommended that you leave the Docket Filing Start Date and Docket Filing Ending Date fields blank, and enter only the Case Id
- Navigate within the results by scrolling or selecting a link at the bottom of the Docket Report Results page
- Dockets are sorted by file date, oldest at the top
- Associated attorneys and the parties they represent are displayed by the sequence number that is displayed in the ASSOC column for the party record, compared against the sequence number in the SEQ# column
- A date in the EXPN DATE field for a party, indicates that party is no longer an active case party
- Only open/pending events (court dates and case actions) display
- Addresses for Parties: The addresses displayed may be the address associated to the party at the time the case was filed, or may reflect a more current address stored in the case management system
- Outstanding fine amounts are not available in CourtConnect

- A party or attorney might have been marked inactive on a case, however you can still search on the inactive party's name
- Inactive parties will still display under the Case Parties area, however there will be an "end" date in the EXPN DATE field for that party
- For certain criminal and traffic cases, a person name search can be refined by entering the exact Date of Birth as well as the person's full last name and first name; only exact name and date of birth matches will be displayed in the results
- To limit your search to a certain case type, select one case type from the list of values within the Case Type drop down; searching with the default ALL in the Case Type field will search for civil, traffic and misdemeanor cases (Caution: When limiting search by case type, consider that procedures and legislative changes over time, have generated new case types including those associated with traffic offenses)
- The Page Navigator (the page number links at the bottom of the results page) may not display all pages. A maximum of 5 pages before and 5 pages after the current page you are on will be available, as well as the First or Last page links
- Closing CourtConnect or arrowing back to the search page while waiting on search results will not cancel the query behind the scenes, and may impact further searches
- Only open/pending events (court dates and case actions) display
- Addresses for Parties: The addresses displayed may be the address associated to the party at the time the case was filed, or may reflect a more current address stored in the case management system
- Outstanding fine amounts are not available in CourtConnect
